ABOUT ME

By day, I'm a Computer Science student and organization officer; by night, I'm probably gaming, watching something, or getting lost in my own random thoughts. I enjoy exploring new ideas, taking on challenges, and finding creative ways to solve problems, even when the solution involves a little trial and error.

Balancing academics, org work, and personal life can be chaotic, but I enjoy the journey and the people I get to share it with. At the end of the day, I'm just someone who loves learning, having fun, and making the most out of every experience.

Achievements & Goals

One of my greatest achievements is building genuine friendships and meaningful connections with the people I've met throughout my journey. Beyond academics and leadership roles, I value the memories, experiences, and lessons I've shared with others, as they have helped shape who I am today. Serving as an organization officer has also allowed me to grow as a leader, work with different kinds of people, and step outside my comfort zone while contributing to something bigger than myself.

Interests

My goal is to continue growing into the best version of myself while staying true to the things that matter most to me. I hope to achieve my personal and professional aspirations, create opportunities that I can be proud of, and make a positive impact on the people around me. Above all, I want to stay happy, maintain meaningful relationships, create lasting memories with friends and loved ones, and enjoy every chapter of life as it comes.
